BLUE TRIUMPHS OVER GREEN AND GOLD IN ANNUAL CLASSIC 15--0

COLLEGE GIVEN "LUCKY BONES" FOR MASCOT

Neck Bones of Black Panther from India Help to Invoke Good Forutne

At last Middlebury has a good luck omen worthy of its mascot the Black Panther. What the actual presence of a bulldog means to Yale a tangible symbol of the Eli Spirit is now furnished to Middlebury by two little white bones not over two inches in length and resembling closely minature hockey sticks. The presentation of the "Lucky Bones" to the college from the athletic committee of the Middlebury Alumni Association came as a fitting climax to the rally banquet of last Friday evening when Middlebury spirit was at its height.

The story of the acquisition of "Lucky Bones", the legends connected with it and its acquirement by Middlebury college constitute a back ground of mysticism and romance for Middlebury's own Black Panther that few other college mascots can aspire to.

"Lucky Bones" is the term applied by the superstitious natives of India to two little bones found in the neck of the black panther, a native denizen of that country. They are termed luck, for to them are ascribed magical powers that insure to their possessor tremendous powers of good fortune. Not only is it the simple natives who prize them but proud is the big game hunter who can show two such bones as a souvenir of his prowess. Middlebury's own particular pair were obtained from a panther shot in Chaibassa, India, about a year ago by Mr. James E. Scott. Mr. Scott presented them to a friend, Mr. G. M. Hossack of New York City, who hearing that Middlebury had chosen the Black Panther for its collegiate symbol considered that he could make no better disposition of his trophy than to give it to the college. The athletic committee of the alumni association into whose possession they came had them fittingly mounted at Tiffany's and presented to the president of the college as custodian to be worn at important athletic contests. That the power of the little bones has not been lessened by their journey to America was clearly proven at their first appearance at this year's Middlebury-Vermont football classic when Middlebury avenged her recent defeats to the tune of 15-0.

Several Changes to Be Made in Frosh Backfield

When the Frosh squad face Kimball Union Saturday next, on Porter Field for their third home game there will be several back field changes. Last Saturday's game at Northampton was a decided disappointment to Coach Potratz, and he intends to give the Frosh fighters a stiff work-out this week. As the varsity is not practising this week, Coach Morey will also have some new pointers for the team. Kimball has had a very successful year thus far, and a tough struggle is anticipated.

L. R. Wheeler, '24, has arrived at Bordeaux, France, where he is studying.

CHAPEL BELL, CHIMES, RING FOR VICTORY

Nearly 1000 Take Part in Big Celebration Dance and Parade; Bonfire at Night

With a fifteen-to-zero impetus Middlebury made merry Saturday after becoming the probable football champion of the state of Vermont. Immediately following the victory, close to a thousand Middlebury supporters snake-danced from Porter field to the gymnasium, where President Moody appeared with the long hidden cane of Gamelial Painter. There the respective members of the team were here heartily cheered, while the chapel chimes tuned in on "Victory" and the traditional Old Chapel bell rang out. From the gymnasium the student body accompanied by faculty members and a thick sprinkling of alumni, led by the band, marched to the fountain where more cheers were sent forth.

Early in the evening many of the local back yards and basements were relieved of their surplus inflammable materials by the Frosh who were detailed to collect wood for the fire. The pile of barrels, boxes, etc., fully twenty feet high was set off by Marshall Klevenow shortly after eight o'clock. Several hundred gathered to see the illumination which shot fifty feet into the air. The victorious day ended with a greatly enjoyed snake-dance around the gymnasium.

RALLY BANQUET HELPS TO ROUSE PEP, CONFIDENCE

Rice, '98, Presides; "Prexy" Moody, Klevenow, Profs. Brown, Kingsley Speak

The smashing 15-0 victory over Vermont was foreshadowed by the enthusiasm and confidence aroused at the Annual football Rally Banquet, which was attended by over 200 undergraduates and alumni, in the McCullough Gymnasium last Friday night, on the eve of the big game.

Mr. Lawrence Rice, '98, presided at the dinner as toastmaster. The first speaker of the evening was Professor Kingsley who expressed unlimited confidence in the team, "The World will be upside down if we don't beat Vermont."

Coach Arthur M .Brown told of the game of football as it was played in the good old days when "players were often secured on a salary basis" and when "coaches themselves sometimes played on the team." Coach Brown claimed that football had undergone radical changes since then and that "Middlebury stands second to none in its standards of football honor."

President Paul D. Moody spoke of the way the Panther eleven was putting Middlebury College on the map, "Walter Camp the famous athletic director in a letter after the Harvard game complimented me on the fine team we have." Sanford Lane, '03, presented to the college in the name of the Alumni Athletic Association, a pair of lucky bones taken from the breast of a black panther.

Captain Marshall Klevenow declared that the team was ready but predicted that, "While our record so far this season is better than that of Vermont, Vermont will play fifty to one hundred per cent better football than in any other game just because it is Middlebury."

While not on the scheduled list of speakers ,Coach Dave Morey was persuaded to talk of the clean-cut, honor-

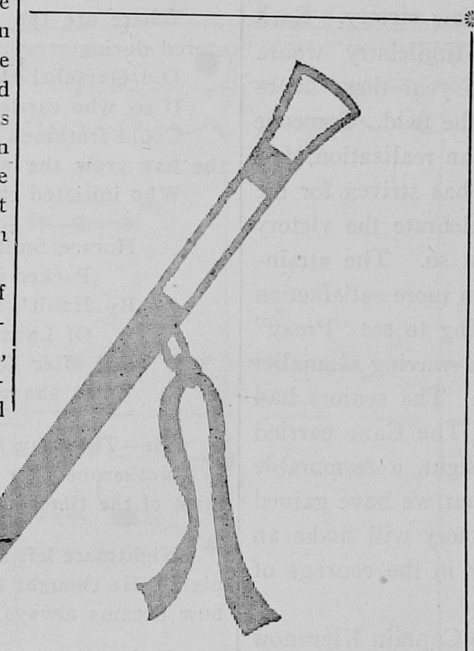
MIDDLEBURY'S FIRST VICTORY SINCE 1920; VARSITY DISPLAYS CRUSHING OFFENSE

Hollquist's 30 Yard Pass to McLaughlin Who Dashes 20 More Yards Sensational Play of Conflict; Klevenow, Lobo, Papke, Star for Blue

Breaking loose with a superior passing and line plunging attack Middlebury completely outplayed and out generalled the University of Vermont 15 to 0 on Porter Field last Saturday afternoon before one of the largest crowds ever assembled there. It was the Blue and White's first victory since 1920 but it was a victory worth waiting for and one that was earned by every member of the Black Panther team which fought steadily to victory throughout the contest.

Middlebury entered the fray as a slight favorite over Vermont, although last minute dope seemed to indicate that the Vermont aerial attack would be too much for Middlebury but nothing that the Vermont outfit could present was too much for a Blue and White team such as trounced Vermont Saturday nor could it even compare with the offensive and defensive tactics that Coach Morey's team exhibited. Just as Middlebury entered a favorite she emerged a still greater favorite.



The Vermont team fought to the last minute and fought gamely but the stuff that they had displayed in former years was lacking. Yarnell was the big star for Vermont and in short he was almost the Vermont team with his passing, punting and running accountable for practically every Vermont gain that was recorded.

At no time did Vermont show any offensive power nor was she able to penetrate the stonewall defense of the Blue and White although at critical moments her defense stiffened sufficiently to deny the Blue and White touchdowns with the goal posts only a few yards off. Middlebury scored nine first downs to three for Vermont and the ball was in Vermont's territory throughout the greater part of the game.

Middlebury displayed her crushing offensive power twice in the first quarter only to be denied touchdowns. Early in the quarter Vermont fumbled on the 18 yard line and Klevenow tore through center for 3 yards with a pass from Hollquist to Lobo bringing the ball to the 7 yard line where it was fumbled to Vermont. Again later on in the period Middlebury carried the ball to the 2 yard line only to be held for downs. Again at the close of the second quarter Vermont held on the 3 yard line and an attempted field goal by Rice failed.

It was in the second quarter that the Blue and White first broke through with a score. Yarnell punted to Middlebury's 44 yard line. Hollquist gained 5 yards and Klevenow seven yards only to be penalized 5. Klevenow then broke through center for 3 yards and Hollquist on an end run made ten yards and a first down. McLaughlin then ran around end for a gain of ten yards on a play that had the Vermont team completely baffled. Klevenow and Lobo then gained 5 and 4 yards respectively and again added 7 more yards and another first down. Lobo lost a yard, then on a forward pass from Papke to Lobo on the 17 yard line the latter scored having a clear field to cross the line. Capt. Klevenow failed to kick the goal.

At the opening of the second half Yarnell made one of the prettiest runs of the afternoon when he received the kickoff and ran it back 55 yards before

BOOKMAN PRAISES ENGLISH SCHOOL AT BREADLOAF

Pays High Tribute to President Moody and Prof. Davison

The Breadloaf School of English, Prof. W .E. Davison and President Paul D. Moody are given high praise in a short article which appeared in the Gossip Shop of the October number of the Bookman.

The article follows: We spent an exciting week at the Breadloaf School of English this summer. We never talked so much in all our lives. Consequently we seldom have enjoyed ourselves so thoroughly. This school, carried on under the auspices of Middlebury College and its remarkable president, Paul D. Moody, and under the direct supervision of Dean Wilfred E. Davison, one of the best teachers of American Literature it has ever been our privilege to hear, seems to us unique. Situated in an old inn, half way up a foothill of the Green Mountains, it gives an atmosphere of peace and contemplation that is rarely encountered. Limited in attendance, it

"We Got 'Em!"

It was a perfect day, a huge crowd, and a great game. That is a brief summary of last Saturday. After the memorable conflict the query that came through the dusk was: "What's the word?" And from hoarse but exultant throats came the paen of victory: "We got 'em!"

We have waited a long time for this victory. Each year hopes have been high that Middlebury would triumph over her ancient rivals; each year those hopes have been shattered by the results on the field. Someone has said that anticipation is greater than realization, that when one has gained that which one has striven for the glamor vanishes. But to us who celebrate the victory over the Green and Gold that is not so. The attainment of our ambition has brought even more satisfaction than we had expected. It was thrilling to see "Prexy" Moody leading the celebration parade waving Gamaliel Painter's Cane high above his head! The seniors had never had the opportunity of seeing The Cane carried before, and to them it was a great sight, a memorable event of their last year. And now that we have gained our stride the historic emblem of victory will make an annual appearance—"for we conquor in the courage of the cane!"

We extend our congratulations to Captain Klevenow and his team upon the splendid showing they made. And we wish to express our gratitude to the man who made it possible for us to triumph over Vermont, who laboring under the greatest odds has produced single handed a wonderful little team—Coach Dave Morey, admired and respected by not only the squad but by the entire student body!

To see Middlebury cross Vermont's goal line for the first time in three years was a thrilling sight. To watch the Blue team play most of the game in U. V. M.'s territory showed what a scrappy outfit we have. It was a spectacular game throughout. The breaks which favored each side added to the tense and exciting moments. Even those who did not understand the technical points could not fail to appreciate the marvelous offensive tactics of the Blue and White machine. Many have remarked that this contest was like the Harvard game but with our position reversed.

We feel that a word should be said about the sportsmanship of our opponents. This has been the cleanest game ever played between the two institutions. It was a purely Vermont team we faced and they played a good but losing game. We think that Captain Harms' refusal to take advantage of a penalty when our quarterback was laid out was a mighty fine exhibition of a true sportsman and deserved commendation.

The whole affair was a momentous occasion. Our slogan was "Midd Get Vermont" and "We got 'em!"

All Gaul

A fact which many people seem to overlook about colleges in general is that they are not made up of the student body alone, but of the alumni body and faculty as well, and the attitude of the two latter groups speaks as eloquently for an institution as anything that could be done by the undergraduate body.

We often hear, from the cynics, that the only time that the alumni are ever heard of after they leave their alma mater, is at reunions when they come back occasionally with a glad smile, and that the rest of the time their interest is largely negative. However true this may be of other institutions is not known to us, but as far as Middlebury is concerned the fallacy of the statement is evident. The most recent proof of the fact is the opening last spring of the supper room in Pearsons hall, the equipment of which was given by an interested graduate of the women's college. Following that was the opening last Saturday at noon of Pearsons social hall, redecorated and refurnished through the generosity of some alumnae, and the interest and aid of the faculty. There are some rare pieces of antique furniture in the room, recently inherited by the women's college, which will make it a beautiful as well as a comfortable place to be in.

As has been mentioned, the ball which was started rolling by the alumnae was kept rolling by the faculty, for the faculty wives and women on the faculty have worked tirelessly in the re-decoration of Pearsons and the other women's dormitories as well. These rooms and the changes in them will stand as a memorial, we hope, of the other two thirds of Middlebury which like Gaul is divided into not one, but three parts.

BY THE YARD

Again The Cane is upon the Campus.

The Usually Very Masterful t-e-a-m was only m-e-a-t for the Black Panther.

Heavy, heavy hung dust over their heads. It is rumored that several times when time was called, it was to dig Vermont linemen from the sand, scrape the gravel from their ears, and set them on end for another Midd onslaught.

FAMOUS CONVERSATIONS

General Pershing—Cig?
General Foch—Thanks. Light?
General Pershing—Thanks.

Captain Klevenow—Uhuhuh.
Captain Greenough—(Absolute silence for 2 minutes).

He figured his Chem was a snapper
He hoped to make Phi Beta Kappa,
But the best he can do
Now that college is through
Is study P. G. with a flapper.

"She'll always have Grace," said the senior as he left her mother's house. Grace had cooked the dinner.

"The ages of man," quoted the freshman in C. C., "are the Tertiary, or Cenozoic, the Psychozoic, the age of Innocence, and the Plastic."

Our excellent friend O. B. Gooder issues a pointer to beginners who plan to attend informal dances: "A miss is as good as her smile." But who ever saw a smile over a telephone?

Suggestions for material to be placed in next year's Freshman's Bible:

Who was Porter Field?

Where are the Black Panther and the Blue Baboon stored during rainy weather?

Did Gamaliel Painter make the football team?

If so, who carried his cane while he was playing?

Could freshmen cut Campus in 1830? Or did they let the hay grow the whole summer?

Who initiated the first freshman class?

Horace Smith (the name's a myth)
Packed his trunk and went to college;
By Habit's force he sought a course
Of Latin to increase his knowledge,
But after he had danced with Doris
'Twas she who was always doing Horace.

She—They say he is quite light on his feet.

Notherone—He ought to be. He's on his partner's most of the time.

Nightmare left a certain junior in a cold sweat Monday night. He thought that U. V. M. had tied Midd. Strange how dreams always favor the impossible.

The Black Panther is stalking prey. It is hoped that at least one Vermonter will escape the ambush—to take back home the story of the carrying of Gamaliel Painter's cane.

COMMUNICATION

Buffalo, N. Y.,
Oct. 24, 1924

Editor Middlebury Campus,
Middlebury, Vt.
Dear Sir:—

To those alumni who have been coming to Commencement quite regularly it has been apparent for a long time that our alumni and class reunion organizations were not functioning properly. The alumni organization has just been overhauled and is apparently in first-class shape, and it now remains for us to perfect our plans for larger, better and more enthuiastic class reunions at Commencement time. The details of this work will necessarily fall largely upon Mr. Shepardson, the alumni Secretary, and the various Class Secretaries, but there is a phase of the work that has properly been left to a committee, of which I have the pleasure of being Chairman.

The usual reunions are those at the end of the third and fifth year, and thereafter every five years. Some have suggested the so-called Dix Plan of reunions, whereby in the course of a period of years a certain class has its reunions with all the classes that were in college at the same time, but it has not been thought best to adopt this plan at the present time, but rather a modification of the same suggested by Mr. Sanford H. Lane. He proposes that the classes immediately before and after those having stated reunions shall be guests of the reunion classes. This will serve two purposes. It will make the alumni who have no regular class reunion feel more at home, and it will also make them more enthusiastic for their own reunion when it comes.

It is obvious that reunions will not be enjoyable and profitable unless given a proper place on the Commencement programme, and the particular work of this committee is to devise a more or less of a standard programme for the Commencement exercises that is particularly adapted to the needs of Middlebury College.

After talking with several of the alumni, and getting in touch with Mr. Shepardson and Professor Wright, I am submitting the following programme to the alumni for criticism and suggestions:

Friday afternoon, Alumni Registration begins. 8:00 o'clock p. m. Students' play.

Saturday, Registration continues. 10:00 a. m. Meeting of Alumni Council, followed by Alumni and Alumnae Luncheon at noon. Afternoon to be given to sports, each visitor making his own choice of golf, tennis, baseball, or boating. 6:00 p. m. Class Dinners. 8:00 p. m., Glee Club Concert, informally but carefully prepared, on the Campus, free. 9:30 p. m. Fraternity reunions.

Sunday, 11:00 a. m., Baccalaureate Services. 1:00 to 6:00 p. m., Dinner and afternoon at Bread Loaf. This gives plenty of opportuity for the alumni to see the college property at Bread Loaf and also to meet not only their classmates, but all of their old friends in the course of the afternoon.

Monday, Class Day. 9:00 a. m. Chapel services. 9:30 a. m. Phi Beta Kappa meeting. 10:00 a. m. Class Day exercises. 2:00 p. m. to 5:00 p. m. dedication of the French House and Hospital. (Of course, this is a special occasion for 1925). Evening, open for suggestions.

Tuesday, (Commencement Day) 9:00 a. m. Chapel services. 9:30 a. m. Alumni meeting. 10:00 a. m. Procession. 10:30 a. m. Commencement Exercises. 1:00 to 4:00 p. m. Commencement Dinner and President's Reception. 9:00 p. m. Commencement Ball.

It will be noticed that the first half of Commencement is devoted, with the exception of the Baccalaureate Sermon, to alumni activities, and enables those who cannot stay to the balance of Commencement an opportunity to get back to business on Monday morning, while that part of the Commencement programme of most interest to the members of the graduating class and their friends is confined to the last two days.

This plan cannot be followed in its entirety at the 125th anniversary of the college next year, but it will be noticed that ample time is given for various events, and it is hoped that it will meet with the general approval of the alumni.

Yours veryt ruly,
THOMAS H. NOONAN, '91.

PUTTING KICK IN AMUSEMENTS

By BURDETTE GRAHAM

There are a lot of people in this world who by the time they have reached middle age have so mistreated their stomachs that all of the food they can enjoy is food that is highly spiced. They have eaten so carelessly that it takes a dash of cayenne pepper to spur their sense of taste to appreciation.

Many of us are the same way about amusements. Bridge is an excellent game that requires skill and concentration and offers an opportunity for sociability. There are people who play so much that these two factors loose their edge and in order to keep up a jaded interest in the game a little money is placed on the outcome. It is only an admission that the mind is losing some of its keenness.

Humor gets up against the same proposition. The day of good, wholesome jokes is getting dimmer with the passing days. We do not get enough kick out of the kind of thing that Mark Twain immortalized. We want the dash of the risque before we can appreciate humor. It is so much easier to add the spices than to spend the time in adding the cleverness. Just another indication that the speeding up process is getting the better of our better selves.

Perhaps the worst thing about the social gamble is that it is an admission that we are getting fagged in the game of life before the whistle is blown for the first quarter to end.

Non-Sorority Women Organize Pyramid Club

Katherine Simonds is the newly elected president of the Pyramid Club which held its first social meeting in the Y. W. C. A. rooms last Friday evening. The club which is composed of non-sorority girls, has for its other officers Annie Smith as vice president, and Ellen Rowley as secretary.

After the president had welcomed the neutral girls of the freshman class, games were played in groups which were determined by birth months. Punch, cookies and sandwiches were served.

The first international intercollegiate radio chess match will be played by Haverford and Oxford late in November. American colleges have contested several times by means of radio, but this will be the opening battle between an American and an English college.

Dartmouth Forum Favors Coolidge

After a half hour of prepared speeches by representatives from each of the three major parties and more than an hour of open discussion a straw vote taken among the Dartmouth students participating in the forum discussion showed a preponderance of Coolidge sentiment.

The Republican candidate scored 75 votes. Davis secured 66 with LaFollette close on his heels with 65. W. Z. Foster found two partisans.

he could be stopped. Middlebury was penalized 20 yards, carrying the ball back in a position for Vermont to score but their passes and plunges failed to gain. The ball see-sawed with Middlebury getting possession of it back of mid-field. Lobo, Hollquist and Klevenow made gains for a first down with Lobo breaking through for a 23 yard gain.

Then came the most sensational play of the afternoon when Hollquist threw a thirty yard pass to McLaughlin who was tearing towards the goal posts at breakneck speed. McLaughlin made one leap forward, grabbed the ball out of the air, brushed a Vermont back to one side, raced on to the goal and scored a touchdown.

Hardly had Vermont recovered from this surprise when Yarnell attempted to punt from the seven yard line only to have Potter dash in and block the kick giving Middlebury a safety and her last score of the game. From then on the ball see-sawed back and forth between the two teams until the last minute of the game when both elevens unleashed an aerial attack. Tarpey intercepted a pass but the Vermont team failed to gain. Then with only a few seconds left Potter intercepted a pass from Tarpey and ran to the 14 yard line with it. Hollquist passed to Papke who received it on the one yard line just as the final whistle blew.

Capt. Klevenow, playing his last game against Vermont was a steady ground-gainer with Lobo performing in stellar fashion by his consistent line plunging and receiving of passes. Hollquist too was a big factor in the Middlebury victory as was also Papke whose field generalship and accurate hurling of passes was remarkable. Potter and McLaughlin at end played a fine game from start to finish and were right in on every play.

The game play by play:

First Quarter

Ehlert kicked off for Middlebury with Vermont receiving ballback of goal posts. Vermont's ball on 20 yard line. Yarnell gained 9 yards around right end. Tarpey fumbled and lost 8 yards. Tarpey gained 3 yards through center. Tarpey punted to Papke who received on the 40 yard line. Hollquist gained ten yards for first down. Whitney gained 5 yards on end run. Klevenow crashed through center for 4 yards. Middlebury penalized 5 yards for offside. Whitney lost a yard on tackle by Harms. Hollquist gained 5 yards through center. Whitney punted beyond goal posts with Vermont's ball on 20 yard line. Vermont fumbled. Lobo in for Whitney. Middlebury ball on 18 yard line. Klevenow gained 3 yards through center. Forward pass Hollquist to Lobo brought ball to 7 yard line. Middlebury fumbled with Vermont gaining possession of ball. Winchenback in for Denning. Yarnell punted to Papke on 50 yard line who ran 5 yards. Hollquist gained three yards. Lobo broke through center for 20 yards. Middlebury penalized 15 yards. Lobo made a yard. Lobo went through center for 2 yards and first down for Middlebury. Klevenow held. Klevenow gained 4 yards. Lobo thrown for 1 yard loss. Pass Papke to Lobo. Vermont interfered giving Middlebury the ball on 4 yard line. Yarnell punted to Papke who ran it back 10 yards to 39 yard line. Hollquist gained 4 yards through center.

Middlebury 0; Vermont 0.

Second Quarter

Klevenow gained 6 yards. First down for Middlebury, Papke gained 2 yards. Klevenow gained 5 yards. Lobo lost two yards. Cayward in for Gandon. Pass Hollquist to Potter incomplete. Vermont's ball on 24 yard line. Yarnell thrown for 8 yard loss. Yarnell punted to Middlebury's 44 yard line. Hollquist gained 5 yards. Klevenow gained 7 yards through center. Middlebury penalized 5 yards. Klevenow gained 3 yards. Hollquist gained 10 yards on runaround left end for first down. Connelly in for Ryan. No gain. McLaughlin around end on trick play and gained 10 yards. Klevenow gained 2 yards. Lobo thrown for 1 yard loss. Papke threw forward pass to Lobo on 17 yard line. Lobo goes through clear field for touchdown. Capt. Klevenow failed to kick goal.

Ehlert kicked off to Yarnell who received it on goal line and it back 20 yards. Tarpey gained 2 yards through tackle. Vermont fumbled and Potter recovered, carrying it back to 5 yard line. Lawton in for Cayward. Miles in for Tarpey. Klevenow gained 2 yards. Chapin in for Ehlert. Lobo gained half yard. Rice in for Papke. Rice failed to kick goal. Vermont gets ball on 20 yard line. Yarnell makes 2 yards. Middlebury penalized. Yarnell thrown for 1 yard loss. Middlebury penalized 5 yards. Vermont makes first down. Forward pass by Yarnell incomplete.

Middlebury 6; Vermont 0.

Third Quarter

FROSH GRIDSTERS AGAIN SUFFER A 7 TO 0 DEFEAT

Stubborn Defense Prevents Further Scoring in Last Period of Game

For the second successive week the Freshmen have met defeat by a 7-0 score, last Saturday's drubbing being administered by Williston Seminary on her home grounds. The Frosh showed improvement over their game with V. A. but fumbles and frequent penalties for offside prevented them from scoring. An intercepted forward pass and a 50 yard runback gave Williston their only score. For the Blue, Captain Furbush was the individual star. Crosby of the home team with several brilliant runs was easily the outstanding player of the game.

The game started with the Frosh kicking off. Throughout the first quarter the ball see-sawed back and forth in the middle of the field. Only once did either team threaten to score. In the second quarter Crosby broke away and ran to the ten yard line. However after being tackled the ball was fumbled and Middlebury recovered. During the play offside was called on the Frosh and the ball was brought back. The half ended in a scoreless tie.

At the beginning of the second half McCann received the kickoff and ran it back to the 35 yard line. In the middle of the quarter McChesney intercepted a pass on Middlebury's 20 yard line and carried the ball to midfield. On the next play a Middlebury pass was intercepted by Crosby who had a clear field and ran for a touchdown. The extra point was added by a dropkick by Bunyan.

In the final period Williston was twice within ten yards of the goal. However a stubborn Blue defense prevented a further score by the home team and on each occasion the ball was punted out of danger. At the end of the quarter Williston made an unsuccessful attempt at a drop kick. The game ended with the ball in Middlebury's possession in mid-field.

Testing the Einstein Relativity Theory

Two weeks will be needed by Professors Albert A. Michelson and Henry G. Gale of the University of Chicago to test the Einstein theory of relativity by means of their elaborate apparatus which is nearing completion at Clearing, Ill.

On October 17, they began observations. The apparatus consists of a rectangle of water pipe 1,800 feet long by 1,200 feet wide; an arc light which will flash two beams of light around the pipe in opposite directions; sets of mirrors to relay the light beams around the pipe, and an air pump to create a vacuum in the pipe.

According to the Einstein Theory of relativity, one beam should travel around the circuit in slightly less time than the other.—The New Student.

"BUDGET-IZE" TO SUCCEED SAYS PREACHER

Rev. Pratt of Greenfield Occupies Chapel Pulpit; Discuses Failures

The Rev. Arthur Pratt, of Greenfield, Mass., addressed the student body October 26 on education, opportunities and excuses.

"What is the real value and worth of education?" Mr. Pratt demanded. "This question is constantly being asked by men and women who are sincerely interested in education. Education unfolds life. Thru it we learn, we gain knowledge, we establish our manners and develop our characters."

"Why do we fail? Is failure really necessary? As we are busy here and there, we sometimes lose our great opportunities. There are two classes of people—those who are engaged in many activities and accomplish much and those who are busy making elaborate excuses for not getting things done. This habit of making excuses is an easy one to acquire and one which we should all avoid. We may take an illustration of this from St. Luke when he tells us of the feast to which three men were bidden but each of them declined. Their reasons were perfectly good but they used them as excuses for not attending the feast of God. We also must take particular care not to let trivial things interfere with our duties to our Creator. Many people believe that in the mad rush of the modern world, we have no time to devote to our higher ideals. This is an entirely false idea for we find that where there is no vision, people perish. We must always guard our ideals as the most sacred possession life holds for us."

"We may most effectively rid ourselves of the excuse habit by budgeting our lives just as all successful men in the world of finance budget their business. The best way to do this is to make out a schedule showing the exact amount of time we have in which to do a certain amout of work and then draw up a plan where all our wasted minutes are utilized. Every man has an equal number of hours each day, you and I as much as Thomas Edison, what are we going to wiith it? We are all here to put across the great work—life. God wants us to be brave in all our battles with life. Remember we may, like the men in the parable, be called to the work of God and we must be prepared.

"It is not a question of what denomination of the Christian church we belong to, but the way our ideas and beliefs mould our characters. Let us all then stand up and be men because God will not accept excuses for our unfinished tasks any more than will life. As we are busy here and there, we must not let the opportunities which God gives us slip away."

150 Couples at Victory Dance

Following the Vermont game an unusually large crowd gathered at the gymnasium for the third informal of the season. About one hundred and fifty couples, including many alumni and guests, danced to the music of the Melodians. A short intermission was held during which all joined around a huge bonfire to celebrate the victory. Dancing continued until eleven thirty by special permission of the President. The chaperones were Professor and Mrs. Barney, and Professor and Mrs. P. C. Perkins.

Reforming Humorists

The copyrights of each member-magazine with subsequent permission to reprint given only to recognized magazines was favored in a resolution passed at the recent convention of the Mid-West College Comics held at the Sheridan Plaza Hotel, Chicago, Ill.

"This action would prevent the salacious type of magazine from using material from college comics," says an account of the convention published in the Daily North-western. "In this way, the college editors hope to discourage and if possible eliminate the publication of indecent and improper magazines."—The New Student.

TENNIS FINALS FOR WOMEN THIS WEEK

Seniors vs. Freshmen; Hockey Matches Are to Be Played Also

Tennis finals for the interclass championship will be played this week. The Senior team, Helen Sheldon and Lucia Goldthorpe, will play the Freshmen, Ruth Potter and Florence Lockerby, while the Juniors, Florence Smith and Betty Goodale, will play the Sophomores, Rachel Spear and Laura Anderson. Miss Hosevear has charge of the tournament.

In hockey the 4:15 practice schedule is being followed, Juniors, Monday; Seniors, Tuesday; and Sophomores, Wednesday. Interclass matches will be played between the Seniors and Juniors on Thursday, and between the Freshmen and Sophomores on Friday. Miss Young will referee the matches.

Last Wednesday evening several of the women in the riding classes rode to Weybridge for supper. Much improvement has been noted in all classes according to Mr. Durkee and Miss Abbott, the instructors.

succeeds in coralling a highly intelligent group of students. Here, this season, went Robert Frost for lectures and consultations. Likewise Henry Siedel Canby and Charles Brooks, the essayist. Here was Marguerite Wilkinson ,giving an excellent course in contemporary American poetry and Sarah Cleghorn, of "Atlantic Monthly" fame. Here were countless other good teachers and writers. We find it difficult to pay adequate tribute to the place for it gave us a new inspiration to go on with the work of the winter, and it also gave us four or five excellent contributions for the magazine, so stimulating did the various courses seem to be to creative writing. We were particularly struck with that of Sidney Cox, a brilliant young professor from Montana State University.

DRAMA REVIEW

By Y. K. W.

Two of the one act plays to be presented by various groups of the Dramatic club were privately given before the members at a regular meeting held last Thursday evening.

The cast of the "Diabolical Circle" which was given by Group One, under the direction of Katherine Abel, '26, included Margaret Doty, '26, Edward Crane, 2'7, Henry Schuettauff, '27, and Carl Ellsworth, '27.

"Not at Home," was given by Group Nine coached by Clyde Fussell, '25. The players were Ada Winchester, '26, Dorothy Saltmarsh, '25, Eldridge Moore '26, Abbott Carney, '27 and Marion Swift, '26.

The work of both groups, under the conditions imposed by the stage of the Old Chapel, was most creditable. 'The Diabolical Circle," is much the more elaborate play of the two. It arrived somewhere. "Not at Home," as a play of the title probably should, arrived nowhere. The characters, however, were interesting. From the point of view of one searching for acting material the work of Miss Doty as heroine of the "Diabolical Circle" was especially good. The two male parts in "Not at Home" were also both creditably done by new talent. Eldridge Moore left little to be desired as a green grocer, and Abbott Carney as the prince showed strong possibilities.

It is almost an impossiblity for the directors to do themselves justice in presenting plays on so inadequate a stage. Both Miss Abel and Mr. Fussell are to be highly commended for their success. There is one word of caution only for future directors. Avoid too much lighting.

The next meeting of the club is Thursday evening, the 30th, at 8 p. m. At that time Mr. Livingston, '25, with group 10, presents "The Unseen," and Miss Helen Sheldon, '25, with group 2, "Business as Usual," a one-act play by J. Audrey Clark, '26.

RICH, '25, WINS AS TENNIS CHAMPION

Thirty-Six Entrants in Contest; Winner Holds Honor for the Second Year

Thursday afternoon on the College Courts at the rear of Hepburn Hall Rich and Wolfskehl played the championship game of the season. A large gallery gathered to see Rich for the second time take the laurels. Altho Wolfskehl was a hardy opponent, he could not surpass Rich's clever plays. He won by a 6-4, 6-2, 6-1 margin.

Of the thirty-six who started in the contest, by respective classes F. B. Rich, Edward Twitchell, Paul Wolfskehl, and Jesse Dunz proved the most efficient. Wolfskehl conquered Dunz in a 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, 4-6 match. Rich subdued Twitchell by a 6-4, 6-2, 6-1 struggle.

An excellent inter-collegiate schedule is on its way to completion.

able football played by the Panthers, "In the Tufts game only one penalty was called against us and that was due to the anxiety of one of our players who was offside. Not a single penalty was called against us in the Harvard game."

Charles Vose, '25, was chairman of the committee in charge of the banquet, the preparation of which was in the hands of Miss Dutton, the college dietician. Jack Lee and his College Orchestra provided the music for the occasion.

At a meeting of the senior class in the hemicycle Tuesday afternoon, Richard Rapport was elected chairman of the Cane committee, and Marshall Klevenow senior member of the Alumni Council. Both elections were unanimous.

Clark Goes to Coolidge

A report from Clark University, the only institution holding a straw vote during the past week, gives Coolidge another victory. The totals were as follows: Coolidge 90; LaFollette 73; Davis 32; and W. Z. Foster 1.

NO FACULTY SHOW

According to a statement issued this morning by Dean E. J Wiley the committee who were in charge of the entertainment to be given by the faculty on November first have secured funds for the purchase of the moving picture machine for the use of the various departments of the college, so that it will be unnecessary to give the entertainment as planned. Several machines have been sent on for trial and one will be selected within a few days.

Speedball, A New Sport, Inaugurated

Speedball, a new game formed of a combination of football and soccer, has been established as a regular intramural sport at Missouri. The game is played on a regulation football field and the main difference between the new game and football is in the scoring.

A field goal is a ground ball kicked between the goal posts and below the cross-bar, counting three points. A touchdown may be scored by the completion of a forward pass from the field of play into the end one and counts two points. A drop kick scores one point. Fouls are penalized by allowing a free kick from where foul is made.

The game is played with 11 men.

STELLAR HALFBACK

"Andy" Lobo Who Was a Consistant Ground-Gainer

BLUE'S QUARTERBACK

"Mike" Papke Who Barked the Signals in Saturday's Game

SIDELINES

The largest crowd ever seen at Porter Field packed both stands to their capacities and a good sized overflow streamed down both sidelines. To the credit of the Three honorary societies and the Freshmen who assisted them may it be said that they were handled in excellent fashion.

It was a different team than the U. V. M. team that dropped a loosely played game to Springfield College, the previous week.

But all the Keady science and fight in the world couldn't have beaten Middlebury Saturday.

Undoubtedly the Blue uncovered the most brilliant aerial attack any Middlebury team ever had. That bullet-like pass from Papke to Lobo will long be remembered; it was the first score in four years for the Morey men.

Did you ever seen any more brilliant defensive work than "Marsh" Klevenow's at fullback? Neither did we.

"Slick" Whitney received a well earned round of applause when he got that kick away despite a poor pass from center. Incidentally that was Carboy's only poor pass in the entire game.

The town band has improved but a band like Vermont's is what Middlebury should have. The Green and Gold band certainly made a fine appearance.

Reigelman's tackle of Tarpey was the most perfectly executed of the afternoon. The big guard was in like an end.

To Coach Morey must be given a great deal of credit for the victory. His science was visible in every play. Try as they would the Vermonter's could not solve the well covered plays of the Blue.

To Yarnell must be given credit for playing one of the best losing games ever seen. He was covered on every play but each succeeding play came back for more. He did get away once for nearly sixty yards but his teammates failed to advance the ball much farther.

That pass from "Stony" to "Bill" was perfectly executed particularly on the receiving end for the catch appeared almost impossible.

It was a most inspiring sight to see the entire Middlebury student body stay in the stands and sing the Alma Mater; it was a wonderful tribute to a wonderful team.

After Saturday's list of gains, Captain Klevenow may be set down among Middlebury's best divers; he went under that hostile line like a Freshman heading for a dish of ice cream.

And when the reclining battlers were separated, Marshall's body lay always just beyond the rest, and Marshall was grinning over the ball.

Now historians will write how Lobo lobed over the line and troubadours will sing of McLaughlin's mocking the maulers he left behind him.

Rusty Yarnell was a weary looking chap in that last quarter. It is quite possible that he earned the title of Rusty when he discarded his padded derby during a game in his youth.

No doubt his hat was pretty heavy as the long hours crashed by. Mr. Yarnell ran no risk, however, in tossing it aside; he knew he was playing against gentlemen.

Once more, on a Saturday afternoon, paint was applied freely in the town of Middlebury, but this time it was done by local artists who specialized in whitewash.

Students Versus Trustees

A mass metting ,at which the excitement became so great that a student strike almost resulted, was held October 11, when the undergraduates of Mercer University (Macon, Ga.) discovered that the professor of biology of that institution, Dr. Fox, who in his classrooms had explained the theories of evolution, had been asked to resign. Resolutions were immediately passed by the student body expressing their appreciation of Dr. Fox and asking the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees to reconsider their action. —The New Student.

The action of the trustees who are elected by the Georgia Baptist Convention, was based on the grounds that "in a written expression of his views as to Christianity, he (Dr. Fox), shows that he is out of harmony with the principle on which we hold the Christian church to be founded." We grant to Dr. Fox," the resolution of the Board contiues, "a perfect right to liberty of opinion in the matter of his religious beliefs, but we do not think he has either the legal or the moral right to hold the beliefs he claims and at the same time to teach in Mercer University."

"Coolie" is from the Hindu word "kuli" meaning laborer.

Undergraduate Journalism in England

The Varsity (University of Toronto) asked Gerald Sparrow, one of the members of the visiting Cambridge debating team, for an article dealing with student journalism in Oxford and Cambridge.

Wrote Mr. Sparrow: "You ask me, sir, for my impressions of University journalism in England. I pause to invent those impressions.....

"Now undergraduates in England are divisable into four divisions:

1. Hearty men who row and excel in atheltics.
2. Lugubrious men who are learned and excel in exams.
3. Ordinary men.
4. And journalists.

"Now the undergraduates who run the weekly papers—there are no dailies—are, again, either (a) Aesthetes, who write the reviews and editorials, and (b) Funny Men, who fill in the intervening spaces.

"The papers at Oxford and Cambridge—for there are many and all are in private hands—have nothing to do with the authorities, but are private enterprises. At each University there are two stable journals—one representing University thought and another Varsity thoughtfulness.

"At Cambridge, The Review is the organ of Orthodoxy and The Granta the Home of Heresy....

"The Oxford and Cambridge press is a sensitive machine of public opinion and affords pleasure to those who write—and even to those who read."—The New Student.

Voting Regulations

Student voters in doubt as to where they shall cast their ballots in the coming elections may receive some enlightenment from the following statement by Professor Harold R. Bruce of the Department of Political Science at Dartmouth:

"The general rule adopted by the courts of the states of the Union regarding student voting in the location of the college or university is that a student who is entirely self-supporting may declare his residence to be in the college town and vote there; but all those students who receive any portion of their support from their parents are legal residents of their home town and must vote there if at all."

A Hot Political Fight

Harvard undergraduates are engaged in the peppiest political fight that the present campaign has brought to light in the colleges.

The Democratic Club has opened hostilities with a letter published in the Crimson (Harvard Daily) on September 26 inviting the LaFollette-Wheeler ites to join with them in defeating Coolidge.

The Third Party adherents indignantly refused and boasted of their intentions to lure the members of the Davis club into their ranks. To this the Democrats replied with an equally insolent letter telling the LaFollette men to "go to it." A list of the Davis men was posted and the LaFollette men were given five days in which to entice any of the "faithful" over to their ranks.

Senator Walsh addressed the Democrats recently. The Republicans rotaliated by securing Frank C. Mondell to speak before thenr next meeting.

The LaFollette men meanwhile have settled down to hard work, having been given entire charge of the campaign in ten neighboring towns.—The New Student.
